Re: Discontinuance of further development on the Mac-Lab EX product line

March 19, 2001

Due to the release of the new Mac-Lab 7000/4000/2000 in July 2000, GE Medical Systems has discontinued any further development of the Mac-Lab EX product line as of December 31, 2000. We recommend contacting your GE Medical Invasive Specialist at (800)558-5544 if there are any questions regarding your EX system.

GE Medical Systems currently intends to continue to support the maintenance and repair of the Mac-Lab EX product line, however, please be aware that some parts may become unavailable due to conditions beyond our control (e.g. third party vendor obsolescence).

If you have any questions regarding this notice, please contact me at (281)275-5200.

Sincerely,

Terry Chang
