Note: Customers must insist all vendors have committed to providing products and services that are in complete compliance with the Pre-Installation Manual (PIM) and local seismic codes. When vendors provide a quote, the quote must make reference to the PIM and not just the vendor's standard product. They should not purchase an RF room without this commitment. All vendors must visit the GE site planning web site and indicate that their RF products are in compliance with the latest Pre-Installation Manual for their project.
