

Military SkillBridge

SkillBridge is an opportunity for separating service members to gain targeted occupational training at GE HealthCare during their last 180 days of service. The program is fully funded by the Department of Defense to enhance the transition from military skillsets and experience to rewarding civilian careers.

SkillBridge at GE HealthCare

SkillBridge provides an invaluable chance to train and work in civilian career areas while continuing to receive military compensation and benefits. SkillBridge can help service members bridge the gap between the end of active duty military service and the beginning of their civilian careers. Service members can be granted up to 180 days of permissive duty to focus solely on training full-time with approved industry partners like GE HealthCare.

We value the skills and perspectives that our nearly 11,000 veterans and serving reservists add to our organization. Our extensive Veterans Network brings together a community and builds connections across the business to boost the personal and professional development of veterans.
