

We have a history of serving the military, starting in 1917 when GE supplied x-ray units to the War Department. This commitment to the Federal Sector has continued to adapt and grow, ranging from readiness support in the field and innovative technology solutions, to corporate support and employment opportunities for those who served and currently serve our great country.

Serving the Federal Health Sector since 1917

GE signs MOA with US Army Reserve to guarantee priority job interviews for soldiers completing military occupational specialty training

2009

GE launches the Veterans Network, a program to prioritize the hiring of Veterans, reservists and guardsmen

2009

GE collaborates with U.S. Army Reserve's 807th Medical Command, in an Externship program to provide training and employment opportunities so soldiers stay mission-ready

2011

GE's Intelligent Platforms and Georgia Tech Research Institute begin collecting data on injuries caused by IEDs for possible injury

GE provides the

War Department

with x-ray units

GE, NFL launch Head Health Initiative -A collaborative project to make concussion diagnosis faster and more reliable, improving treatment for TBI

GE renews statement of support with the Employers Support for the Guard and Reserve

2014

prevention and to improve care

2013

2012

2016

GE's "Hiring Our Heroes" commitment to hire 5,000 more veterans in a five-year period was accomplished 8 months early 2017

U.S. Army & GE Healthcare enter an agreement to explore the commercial application of an algorithm to drive intelligent ultrasound capabilities valuable in the treatment of chest and torso injuries

GE, VA Puget Sound, VHA partnership to accelerate 3D printing in patient care

GE Healthcare joins AMSUS Executive Advisory Board to support improving care across the U.S. Federal health sector

